Spalding's 50th flower parade is being filmed by Big Screen Productions

DEEPING St Nicholas-based production company Big Screen Productions has been commissioned to film the 50th Spalding Flower Parade and will be producing 10,000 DVDs of the spectacular show on Saturday, May 3.

Working in conjunction with the parade committee and South Holland District Council the company will produce a commemorative film that will cover all the action as it happens – from the crowning of the Flower Queen 2008 to all the fun of the parade day itself, including the floats, bands and the groups and charities taking part.

The DVD will include two hours of video of the parade, the flower queen competition and all the preparations for this special event. It will also include the evening events on the stage during the Flower Queen contest.

Steve Timewell, of Big Screen Productions, has also given local companies the chance to be part of local history by promoting themselves in a glossy booklet accompanying the DVD.

It will include sections on places of interest, what's on, where to eat and what to see and do in the area.

The flower parade DVD will be promoted for sale on the day of the parade via booking forms handed out during the event and at its own stand.

It will be available a few days after the parade and will be on sale at the Lincolnshire Free Press office, several local outlets and via the video company's website, www.bigscreenproductions.net.

The DVD will be priced at £14.99 with free postage.

It can be ordered through LincsLocalTV.com and www.bigscreenproductions.com
